THE DAILY PROGRESS.

VOL. VI. RALEIGH, SATURDAY, OCT. 21, 1865. NO. 290.

BY J. L. PENNINGTON.

THE CITY.

☞ Persons in city and country are requested, at all times, to furnish us verbal or written information of any events of public interest which may transpire in their neighborhoods, or of which they may have knowledge.

MATRIMONIAL.—The "deadly blast" of war having been blown out and "gentle peace," white winged, having smiled upon us, the young people are now turning their attention to "union" matters and rapidly venturing forth upon the sea of matrimony. We hear of several marriages to be solemnized during the coming week, and in one neighborhood—within a block of each other—of three of the prettiest girls in Raleigh who have accepted contracts to sow on buttons, patch pantaloons, grumble with servants or take the cooking themselves. These latter are to do the deed before christmas. They have our best wishes, though they, with others of like inclinations, are not guiltless as causes of the present high prices of bedsteads, feathers, cradles, &c.,—things of the first importance to this paragraphist, who has a house to furnish for himself next year. But we wish them all a life of bliss in spite of this; indeed, we hope they may enjoy a perpetual honeymoon for the remainder of their lives. For

"Marriage, rightly understood,
Gives to the gentle and the good
A Paradise below"

If we could believe in the maxim "the more the merrier," we would counsel all of our friends to try wedlock, which an old song characterizes as "a ticklish thing" We deem it safe at least, to follow in the footsteps of a contemporary and advise them to take this hint and form alliances matrimonial ere the sear and yellow leaf of existence places them beyond the pale of domestic felicity.

LAW AND ORDER TO BE MAINTAINED.—At their meeting night before last, the Board of Commissioners appointed twenty additional policemen, thus giving us a total force of thirty able-bodied citizens.

Every friend of law and order will hail this step as an expression of determination on the part of our municipal legislators to crush out criminals and crime. The gentlemen who comprise the Board have shown themselves thoroughly alive to the interests and reputation of the city. The maintainance at this time of a sound public morality is of the first consequence to our future happiness and quiet as a community. But we contend that simply as a question of local economy—discarding all other considerations—they have acted with true wisdom and foresight. All honor to them for this step, and now we trust the old and new appointees will go energetically to work in estopping the career of great and small rascals.

THE WATCHMAN.—We have been so pressed in our columns by advertisements and other matter, that we have not been able to print, as was our purpose, the prospectus of Rev. Chas. F. Deems' proposed paper, "The Watchman." It will be published in New York at $2 for six months. In the prospectus, the editor says:

"A Home Gazette, a Repertory of all the best current literature, a summary of all important intelligence in every department of human effort, a journal of progress, an advocate of truth in all things, a friend, a guide, a blessing—this is what the Watchman" is intended to become.

The idea of Dr. Deems is a bold one and to realize the expectations he creates as to his enterprise will require much energy and labor; but those who are familiar with his learning and attainments will not doubt his success. We wish him abundant prosperity.

For the present the address of the Editor will be Raleigh.

NEW LICENSE REGULATIONS.—We would call the attention of produce brokers to the following recent decision:

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that where the sales of a produce broker exceed in any license year the sum of ten thousand dollars, and he thus becomes subject to a commercial broker's license, the new license should be dated from the first day of the month in which the liability therefor accrues, upon the payment of the whole proportion of the annual cost of such a license."

Remember this, ye men whom it concerns.

THE MEETING TO DAY.—It is of the first importance to the people—those who range themselves in the same category with the Conservative-Union-non-Holden party—to be present at the meeting for the selection of county candidates for the Legislature. We hope to see the county and city fully represented, so that we may have not only a large turn-out and a general expression of views, but thorough harmony in the wigwam between chiefs and tribes.

RUN OVER.—We are glad to hear that the line of road between this city and Goldsboro has been turned over to the company by the military authorities. We see by advertisement in this issue that the mail train leaves here after Monday next at 5 30 a. m. and arrives at 7.00 p. m. The accommodation train departs at 7.30 p. m., and arrives at 5.30 a. m. That efficient railroader, Superintendent Wilkes, now controls the ribbons.

RETIRED.—We learn from the "Journal of Freedom" of this morning, that Mr. J. Q. A. Crane has terminated his connection with the paper—Mr. E. Brooks continuing to fill the editorial chair as well as becoming the sole proprietor of that establishment. Mr. C. had, from the first, only a business interest in the concern.

It is proper to say the change will cause no interruption in the regular issue of the paper.

"Are you for or against Holden?

It appears that the party questioned lisped very inaptibly, and replied to the Holdenite:

"You can't elect him, and if you do, you can't make a Worth man.

ABOLISHED.—The provost marshal of this city, Capt. Purinton, has been relieved from duty and the office abolished. While we are truly glad to chronicle every inch of progress made towards the restoration of the State to civil control, we bear testimony to the efficiency of the retiring officer and to the pleasant relations which have usually subsisted between officers and soldiers of the army and our citizens.

LARGE BALLOON.—A large balloon, coming from a southwesterly direction, passed over the city last night, about 10 o'clock. Time was when such an exhibition would have made us think that Grant or Sherman was up to some mischief. The case is now different and we only wish that the secessionists would give notice of them previous to their occurrence

GO IT.—Mr Edward Baker, a Baltimorean with capital and energy, is in the city, looking around with a view of establishing in this vicinity a broom, bucket and match factory. We hope he may find it not only practicable, but meet with such inducements from property holders as will encourage the undertaking.

STILL ANOTHER.—It will be seen by announcement elsewhere, that Wm. H. High is a candidate for the Sheriffship of this county. There is still room for more and if there are other Richmond's who propose entering the lists, they ought to be trotted out on the course immediately.

ORDERED AWAY.—The 28th Michigan regiment, now on duty here, has been ordered away with the exception of one company doing service at Gen. Ruger's headquarters. This leaves us without any military force, we believe.

ELECTION TICKETS, in any quantity, from one to fifty thousand, can be printed at this office on the shortest possible notice. Price, only one dollar per thousand.

ALL YE FAMILIES, in want of groceries, should remember the auction sale of groceries to day, at Johnson's store on Market square.

Farewell Address of President Reade to the State Convention.

Judge Reade is winning large reputation by the simple and fervid style of eloquence which has marked his speeches before the State Convention. Last Thursday evening, just preceding the proclamation of adjournment, he delivered himself of the following chaste address—an appropriate farewell from the President to the membership of the body over which he presided:

Gentlemen of the Convention: Our work is finished! The breach in our government, so far as the same was by force, has been overcome by force, and so far as the same had the sanction of legislation, that legislation has been declared to be null and void. So that there remains nothing to be done except the withdrawal of military power, when our governmental relations will be restored without further asking on the part of the State, or giving on the part of the United States.

The elements of slavery, which has so long distracted and divided the sections, has, by a unanimous vote, been abolished. Every man in the State is free. The reluctance which for a while was felt to the sudden and radical change in our domestic relations, a reluctance which was made oppressive to us by our own kind feelings for the slave, and by our apprehensions of the evils which were to follow him, has yielded to the determination to be to him as we always have been, his best friend; to advise, protect, educate and elevate him; to seek his confidence and to give him ours; and each occupying appropriate positions toward the other, to cherish for the past and cultivate for the future those strong and mutual attachments which have been hallowed at the hearthstone, in the church, in the sick room, and at the grave.

It remains for us to return to our constituents and engage with them in the great work of restoring our beloved State to order and prosperity.

As long as I remember any thing with pleasure, my heart will beat faster when I reflect, gentlemen, upon your kindness to me. You have honored me with your confidence and excused my imperfections. I have not to remember a single discourtesy. I wish you a safe journey to your affectionate families; that your lives may be useful, honorable and happy; and that God may bless you

SEARCHING AMERICAN BAGGAGE.—The Cork Herald gives an account of the process through which the baggage of American travelers in Ireland has to go It says:

"Every species of property, the smallest article of clothing, every book, letter, scrap of paper, however deeply deposited or closely packed in portmanteau, box, case parcel, or pocket, was opened and scrutinized by the officers, under the inspection of the magistrates; the object being, of course, to detect any possible circumstance which might show the owners to be connected with the Fenian conspiracy As will be readily imagined, this proved very annoying to the passengers, and their indignation (especially that of a German gentleman) was great. The search proved abortive; the only article at all objected to being a revolver which one gentleman had with him, and which oftener is than is not among the luggage of American travelers. This weapon was retained, and all the passengers were then allowed to repack their property as best they could and proceed on shore."

"If you can't keep awake in church," said a preacher to one of his hearers, "when you feel drowsy, why don't you take a pinch of snuff?" "I think the snuff should be put into the sermon!" was the shrewd reply.

PUBLIC MEETING.—The conservative Union men of the county of Wake are requested to meet at the Court House, in Raleigh, at 11 o'clock, on Saturday next, the 21st inst., for the purpose of consultation, with a view to the selection of a ticket for the Legislature, at the election in November next.

To the Voters of the Fifth Congressional District, composed of the Counties of Alamance, Randolph, Guilford, Rockingham, Davidson, Forsythe, Surry, Person and Caswell

Fellow-Citizens:

In compliance with the wishes of a number of the citizens of the Fifth Congressional District I have consented to place my name before you as a candidate for a seat in the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States. This trust, at all times one of great responsibility, is rendered peculiarly so in the present extraordinary juncture of our public affairs.

Just emerged, as we have, from one of the most sanguinary and disastrous wars, which history records, with our constitutional relations to the government not yet entirely restored, the crisis demands the utmost prudence and the most disinterested patriotism, to attain this most desirable result. It is true that the Convention of the State has fully responded to the wishes of the people of the State, and by its action has done every thing in its power towards accomplishing that end, yet it is still subject to the decision of the national authorities.

First in the list of duties inscribed among those that appertain to the representative trust, is to aid, by all honorable means, the complete restoration of the State to those relations with the federal Union, which for near a century, so happily and beneficially subsisted between them. I need not say, that this with me, if honored with your confidence, would be the first and most cherished object of my wishes.

No duty would be so pleasing as to aid in restoring our State to the noble government which Washington and his compatriots of the revolution gave us. Let us then, again, seek to share that great inheritance of which we have for a time been deprived by a most extraordinary infatuation. Let us seek to unite in fraternal bonds with that great family of States which constitutes the greatest and freest government in ancient and modern times. At the same time let us cast the mantle of charity over former differences of opinion, and regard those who differed with us as friends and patriots, who now unite with us in the great work of reconstruction.

In the policy of President JOHNSON, I behold the path of peace, safety and honor, to conduct us through these difficulties. While he stands on national ground, as the partisan of no one section and as equally the friend of all, he is our intrepid defender against the meditated aggressions of revolutionary radicalism. As one, cordially, uniting in his official capacity, in the plans and policy of President JOHNSON, it is only simple justice to Governor HOLDEN, to say, that he has most faithfully and beneficially exerted his authority to that end, and has pursued a course which entitles him to decided public approval.

Impoverished and exhausted, as our State has been, by the results of the late war, it will be peculiarly the duty of those who represent her in the Congress to endeavor to lighten her burthens as much as practicable with respect to taxation, and to obtain from the government such indulgence as can be had with regard to the taxes, for which the State is now subject.

As respects our foreign relations, peace and friendship with all, entangling alliances with none, asking what is right, and submitting to nothing which is wrong, should be the maxims and the policy of our government as they were in the best days of the Republic.

I trust my course for many years past is not altogether unknown, on the question of the Federal Union. In the Senate of the United States, more than thirty years since, in the debate on the force bill, against the nullification ordinance of South Carolina, I declared, in a speech delivered by me on that occasion, that a dissolution of the Union would result in the establishment of a military despotism. Afterwards, when extreme men of the South and North agitated the slave question, as I then and now believe, from mischevious motives, I resisted it, in opposition to both extremes, as tending to a dissolution of the Union In 1860 and '61, when the movement in favor of secession was first made in our Legislature, I was then a member of the State Senate, and made every effort which I was capable of making in opposition to it.

This I continued to do till every Southern State had seceded and the war had commenced, leaving no doubt if North Carolina remained alone that civil war in her borders would be inevitable, and that she would become the battle-ground of both the Confederate and Federal armies. To avoid that calamity, the State, opposed, as she ever had been, to disunion, yielded her own earnest wishes to the pressure of circumstance, and went with her Southern sister States.

I am confident it was done in the hope, by the people, that their patriotic counsels would moderate those of their Southern sisters, and ultimately obtain an adjustment by which the Union would be restored. During the entire war, I have no doubt, if the freedom of opinion had not been suppressed, that North Carolina was, at all times, in favor of an honorable settlement of the question. Such were my own anxious wishes, as I always regarded a dissolution of the Union as bringing with it military despotism and the abolition of slavery. Those who were in power at Richmond, however, pursued a different course, and the result has been such a sacrifice as no people have suffered. The restoration of the Federal Union gives assurance of peace and civil liberty. Disunion is civil war, anarchy, military despotism and all its attendant evils. The re-establishment of the Federal Union nobly vindicates the principles of republican freedom, and proclaims the great principle so much denied by titled orders—that man is capable of self-government.

Such are the views entertained by me on general questions of public policy, briefly and hastily written, amidst public engagements. If it shall be your pleasure to elect me as your representative, I shall regard it as a distinguished mark of public favor, and my best efforts will be directed to the advancement of the public good.

Most respectfully
Your fellow-citizen,
BEDFORD BROWN.

SATURDAY, OCT. 21, 1865.

NATIONAL UNION ANDREW JOHNSON TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR:

WILLIAM W. HOLDEN,

OF WAKE COUNTY.

Election Thursday, 9th November, 1865.

FOR CONGRESS:

FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT,

COL. J. P. H. RUSS,

OF WAKE COUNTY.

"Every dollar of the debt created to aid the rebellion against the United States should be repudiated finally and forever."—ANDREW JOHNSON TO GOV. HOLDEN.

Jonathan Worth, and the "Sentinel," the organ of the disaffected faction that brought him forward for Governor, are in favor of taxing the people to pay the rebel State debt.

Adjournment of the State Convention.

The State Convention adjourned on Tuesday night, after passing an ordinance repudiating the rebel State debt. We have no time or space for a critical review of its doings, but, upon the whole, we are disposed to think the body has done well. There were some factious spirits in it, but they were small in number and powerless for harm. Judge Reade, the President, presided with dignity and efficiency, and delivered a feeling and appropriate address to the body before announcing the adjournment.

The worst feature in the whole session, in our opinion, was the refusal to adjourn sine die. We can see no earthly business to call the body back here on the fourth Monday in May.

The Rebel State Debt Disposed Of.

Notwithstanding the copperheads, the disaffected, and their organs, the State Convention has finally, and forever, disposed of the rebel State debt, and those gentlemen, speculators and shylocks, that acquired wealth, as they supposed, by the misfortunes of the country, and piled up State bonds, may whistle for their payment. They bet their "pile" on the Confederacy and lost, and it is nothing but right they should lose.

We consider the repudiation of this bogus debt an individual triumph, because the Progress was the first paper in the State to take ground against the payment of it, and, in addition, we stumped this county on the issue. The people of Wake, for reasons which might not interest persons at a distance, did not endorse our position on the rebel debt, but the Convention has. And this ordinance not only kills State bonds but it kills County bonds also. The Convention, in this matter, has done exactly what we insisted ought to be done, and we rejoice. The following is the ordinance:

AN ORDINANCE

Recognizing the just debts of North Carolina and prohibiting the payment of all public debts created or incurred in aid of the late rebellion.

1. Be it enacted and ordained by the delegates of the people of the State of North Carolina, in convention assembled, and it is hereby declared and ordained, That it shall be the duty of the General Assembly of the State, as soon as is practicable, to provide for the payment of all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State, otherwise than in aid of the late rebellion.

2. Be it further declared and ordained, That all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State, in aid of the late rebellion, directly or indirectly, are void, and no General Assembly of this State shall have power to assume or provide for the payment of the same or any portion thereof, nor shall any General Assembly of this State have power to assume or provide for the payment of any portion of the debts or obligations created or incurred, directly or indirectly, by the late so called Confederate States, or by its agents or under its authority.

Guns Spiked.

The North Carolina State Convention has unanimously endorsed the administrations of Gov. Holden and President Johnson. Not a dissenting voice! Hear it, O ye Confederates, who were manœuvering and corresponding for weeks before the Convention assembled, to get up opposition and division in the State! On the 18th, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina, in Convention assembled, That the administration of Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, has been eminently national and conservative, embracing every section of this Republic; and that he is entitled to the gratitude of the people of this State for the manifestation of his purpose to secure to them at as early a day as is practicable, the restoration of their constitutional rights in the Union; and that W. W Holden, Provisional Governor, deserves our thanks for his zealous and faithful labors to the same end.

Resolved, That copies of the above resolution be transmitted by the President of this Convention to President Johnson and Governor Holden.

And yet the copperheads in the Convention, with their organ, the Sentinel, have brought out an opposition to the very man they have endorsed. But it is plain to see that it is the old aristocracy and secession element in the State, making one last desperate struggle for political power; and we doubt not but it will be their last. Gov. Holden will be elected by an immense majority, for however loyal and conservative Mr. Worth may be, the fact that all the secessionists and disaffected in the State are for him will concentrate the loyal vote upon Gov. Holden.

THE THIRD DISTRICT.—Two candidates are announced for this District, Hon. T. C. Fuller and A. R. McDonald, Esq. They are both worthy gentlemen. Mr. McDonald is known to be a warm and decided friend to Gov. Holden.

To the People of the Seventh Congressional District of North Carolina.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—Circumstances having rendered it obligatory upon me to become a candidate to represent the people of this district in the next Congress of the United States, and the people having so little time for reflection before the election, I deem it just to the people and myself that I should acquaint them, to some extent, with my principles and the course that I pursued before and during the late war, &c. In doing this it is necessary that I should be as expeditious as possible and to the point.

I have only to refer those who read the paper published in my place, (Hendersonville,) The Pressage, of which I was one of the Editors previous to the war, editorials of which will set me right up to the date of secession; after which the title of the paper was changed to "The Henderson Times," and in which many articles appeared over the signature of "Vigilo," "Vigilax," "Video," &c., written against secession and certain characters advocating the same. These articles were written the first and second year of the war, and brought down an avalanche of curses and abuse upon the paper and the author of said articles. Finally, the printing office was mobbed and the name of the author of said articles extorted from Mr. Deadman, the publisher of the paper, by force of arms. I was the writer of the articles, and at once became the object of scorn and derision, and finally, my life being imperilled one or two things had to be done: leave the country, or fight against my honest convictions and conscientious principles.

I chose to leave, but was pursued, arrested in East Tennessee, bound with a rope, and carried to Asheville jail, within six miles of where I was born and raised. There I was hand cuffed and sent to camp Vance, and after several weeks of confinement, then I was sent to the prison pens of camp Holmes, near Raleigh. Some weeks afterwards, I was sent to the barracks at Richmond, Va. The conscript law including all under forty-five by this time, took me in. I was sent directly to the regular army and kept under guard until from exposure I was prostrated and sent to hospital, where I remained from January until July following, and as soon as I was well able to get about, was re-arrested and carried before the Provost Marshal at Richmond, where several private letters that I had written to some of my friends at home, containing my sentiments, were presented to me. I acknowledged to writing the letters, remarking that they were private letters and not intended for the public eye. These letters had been forcibly taken from my friends. I was also shown some articles, published in the Henderson Times, written by one Dr. Levi Love. Any one who read the paper will not fail to remember the articles about the great tory Dock Jones. Two direct questions were then put to me. The first was, "Did you vote for Holden?" Answer, "No, I did not, but would have done so had I been able to be at the polls." The second question was, "Are you not a Union man?" Answer, "I have always been a constitutional Union man." I was then committed and incarcerated in Castle Thunder prison, apartment No. 10, starved and eaten by vermin for near four months, during a month of which time I was conscious of but little that was passing.

After procuring all the information they could get in regard to my antecedents as a Union man, and my trip to Tennessee, I was sent to the regiment to which they had previously assigned me, with a bundle of papers as thick as my hand, for the purpose of trying me before a Drum Head court martial. I had solemnly resolved on leaving Castle Thunder, to make my escape or perish in the attempt. I succeeded in eluding the guard at New Market, in the valley of Northern Virginia, and after twelve days and nights dragging through the snow, over mountains and cliffs, living most of the time on raw corn, I succeeded in reaching the Baltimore and Ohio rail road at Green Springs, Maryland, badly frost bitten, the 29th November, 1864.

From Cincinnatti, Ohio, I addressed a letter to the Secretary of War, and being able to give him undoubted reference as to my loyalty to the United States, I was granted the privilege of going anywhere I chose.

I have thus given an out line of my history during the war, in order to remove any doubts that might exist in the minds of those who are unacquainted with the circumstances. Most assuredly there is no man in the State that has suffered more than myself for opinion's sake.

I reached my home in May last, and my most bitter enemies were made to say, "Jones must be the most merciful man on earth, after being treated as he has, to come home and plead for those who would, at one time, have taken his life, is more than the most of men would do." I have always been an advocate of peace, law and order. Had I pursued the course towards my persecutors, when I had the power, that they did when they had the power, I would have been as guilty of tyranny and usurpation as they were, but would have had a much better reason. I am not in favor of retaliation and proscription, except at the ballot box. In the language of the poet, I would say,

"While the lamp holds out to burn,
The vilest sinner may return."

"We are on our way home." The old ship is still afloat; at the top of her mainmast still floats the stars and stripes. "May they ever wave." A helmsman stands upon her quarter deck that will steer her clear of breakers—a mighty crew is on board, reaching forth their arms and bidding us to get on board—and I think if the father of his country and the sacred dead of Yorktown, Cow Pens, Kings Mountain, Bunker Hill, and many other places, could rise, they would bid us go on board that same old ship which they built and launched for us, called the Constitution and the Union. Then, fellow-citizens, shall we not get on board? Shall we not "go home?" If this is your desire, elect a man to Congress who can take the oath required; take his seat, and thereby aid you in having the good old North State to "go home,"—restored to her wanted place in the Union. The Union is our only hope for future prosperity.

The State convention has passed an ordinance abolishing slavery by a unanimous vote, and when ratified by the people, as I have no doubt it will be, then this will be the white man's government. I think the negro should be colonized and sent from among us, for many reasons, at the earliest practicable period.

In principle, I am a phebian, and desire to live in and maintain a government where the most humble citizen and his children, through their industry, integrity and merit, may raise their heads above the beating waves and share an equal chance, when qualified, to stand at the helm of State, in official positions; and I would stamp with political infamy all such tyrannies and usurpations as produced the war from which our beloved country has just emerged.

In order to carry out these principles, in my opinion, we should sustain President Johnson and Governor Holden in their efforts in restoring the Union and the State to law, order and prosperity.

Gov. Holden is untiring in his efforts to effect this much desired end, and in my opinion, there is no man in the State better qualified or more anxious to restore to the people these great blessings.

Down with the men who were going to drink all the blood that would be spilt in certain contingencies, which contingencies did occur, and yet they did not drink the blood. Down with the leaders who made a long list of promises to the people, if they should secede, and not one single item in the whole catalogue has ever come to pass, nor never will.

Can the people trust men who have been the instruments of their ruin; who have laid waste and desolated the country, and swept from the land hundreds of thousands of our best men, who now fill premature graves? No, never. What judgment or what corruption; and either case, they are not to be trusted, especially where they persisted to the bitter end in such a suicidal policy.

If the people follow these leaders; these willow-whisper, these jack-o'-lantern-ers, they will again be led into the bogs and marshes from which they cannot extricate themselves for years to come. The people cannot be too careful in selecting men who are and always have been right, though they may have at some period differed with them.

Actions speak louder than words, and it is impossible to judge men, at all times, alone by what they say. It requires some act to cast their loyalties. That act I have performed, though it has been urged as an objection to me that I fled from my native section. That is the very act that put the seal to my devotion to the government of our fathers. Thousands done the same thing, and thousands more would have done so under the same circumstances. The President of the United States fled from his native section.

I know of only one other objection that has been raised against me, and that was by a gentleman at the bar—a legal gentleman. He took the ground that I lacked legal knowledge. Well, I frankly confess that I am not a lawyer, but I cannot see why this should be raised as an objection, for with the exception of the preachers, I know of no class who had more to do with bringing on the late war. Of course there are honorable exceptions in both classes. Why, the most eminent statesmen that America has ever produced were not lawyers. George Washington, the surveyor, was not a lawyer. President Johnson, the tailor, has never been a lawyer. Our present most excellent Governor, W. W. Holden, the printer, is not a lawyer. It matters not what a man's profession or trade may be, all have an equal right to aspire to positions of trust—farmers, doctors, printers, merchants, mechanics and lawyers—and I am now exercising that right by placing my name before the people, who are the jury in the case, and to whose decision I will cheerfully submit, believing, as I do, that the people will always do right when untrammelled.

The people of Henderson and Transylvania counties thought I had the right to go to the State Convention by electing me nearly eleven votes to one over my opponent, in which convention I have endeavored to do my whole duty. Let the Union men, like a band of brothers, stand shoulder to shoulder in the coming elections, and all will be well. Beware of caucusses, long harangues, loud speeches and wire workers, for there are those who will endeavor to throw fire-brands into our ranks and make dissensions among the people. Such men have openly avowed that they would prefer to live under England or France rather than the United States, and many of their character are disguising themselves under the garb of Union men, in order that they may again deceive the people. The idea that man is not capable of self-government has proved false, and the great principles of republicanism and popular government should be sustained in all their bearings. To this end, it is to be hoped there will be no divisions in the conservative ranks.

In conclusion, let me say there are but few men who can take the oath required by the authorities at Washington City, and this is one of the reasons why my name comes before the people for Congress. While in convention, at Raleigh, written and printed letters were received from Washington, stating that the oath would not be modified, and with advice from President Johnson to send such as had remained loyal through the rebellion. After advising with members of the convention, I determined, the circumstances all considered, to announce my name, believing that it is highly important for the interest of the people that they be represented in the next Congress.

The time being so short as to render it impossible to canvass the District, I have taken this method of proclaiming my candidacy, in order to secure some unanimity among the people, and having been stripped of all my means, and thrown out of business, there is no man that will feel more grateful to the people for their support than myself; and if elected, I will use every exertion to the utmost of my ability to promote the interests of the whole Union.

Let the people in every county, go to the polls and vote for men in the different departments in the coming elections, who are true to the Union.

A. H. JONES.

P. S. Please to read and circulate as much as possible.

LEADERS of the present Confederate party, who snivelled and scraped at the feet of Gov. Holden when confiscation threatened, and when amnesty and pardons were wanted, are now the bitter revilers of the Governor, and many of them the uncompromising enemies of what they were pleased to term, in Confederate times, the "yankee government." It is the negro aristocracy still struggling for supremacy and power, and if they find themselves capable of crushing Gov Holden, their attention will then be turned to President Johnson, for they hate the latter, really, quite as bad as they do the former, and frequently sneeringly refer to his humble origin and plebian blood. The secession leaders have lost the niggers and robbed men of their property, but they want to save the "blood."

"FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE," issued from the Sentinel office, in this city, will shine none the less brightly for being on yellow paper. Let all loyal men remember the "yaller" ticket dodge of the summer of 1864, by which the rod was held over poor soldiers, and spurn, spit upon and trample under foot these "facts for the people." They were gotten up, put forth, and are circulated by those who, in 1863, sent forth a circular in which they arrogantly called themselves "patriots and property holders." All the old dodges of the "patriots and property holders" will be renewed in the present effort to restore the disaffected to power, and we appeal to the people to be on their guard against them.

PANIC-STRICKEN.—The Standard is evidently affrighted—panic-stricken. It pours out its bile as it was wont in former days. Abuse, falsehood and vituperation have been its resource always. Let it do its worst. The people of North Carolina understand it. That is enough.—Sentinel.

Is the above meant to apply to the Standard in 1862, when the present editor of the Sentinel was employed in that office and contributed to the columns of that paper? We only ask for information

Col. J. C. Edwards announces himself as a candidate for Congress in this the 4th district. We regret this, as two gentlemen, both friends of Gov. Holden, running in the same district, will only distract and divide loyal voters. We have no personal or political objection to Col. Edwards, but we shall do all we can to procure the election of Col. Russ.

The Newbern Times of the 19th, hoists the name of W. W Holden for Governor, and says:

It will be [illegible] Governor in this [illegible] first civil Governor of North Carolina. [illegible] proper authority.

A day or two since, we took occasion to speak of Gov. Holden in connection with this position, and tried to give our views upon the propriety of electing him at the coming election. At that time, while we indulged the hope that he would be a candidate, there were no data upon which we could positively rely that such would be the case.

The claims of Gov. Holden to the position of Chief Magistrate of North Carolina are based upon ability, integrity, and right. No one will deny that his mental capacity is equal to the duties which will devolve upon that high officer. His capacity, aided by a spirit of magnanimity which is scarcely equalled, has guided the State through the transition era of a conquered people. His comprehensive mind has seen and provided for the critical questions which were incidental to that era, and which might have borne with weighty injury upon an unfortunate class of our people had he not averted them by rare foresight. His integrity of purpose no one will dare attack. It is manifest in his whole course. The man who had the moral courage to run for Governor of a State whose population were known to entertain sentiments widely at variance with his own—at a time, too, when it was dangerous for one to express views hostile to the ruling dogma, must have something beyond ordinary integrity of principle to sustain him. Gov. Holden did this, and knew at the time that he would be defeated. But he was backed up by what he considered a rectitude of purpose, and he was willing to fight the odds in defence of what we deemed a sacred principle.

In approaching the question of right, we feel the weight of the undertaking, but fearlessly assert that his claims are based upon right.

1st. Because he has brought the State to its present favorable condition for the operations of President Johnson's reconstruction policy. He has borne the contumely of the radical revolutionists of the North for his extreme efforts in procuring pardons for those who fell within the exceptions of the amnesty proclamation, and of the radical secessionists South who were opposed to his Union proclivities at the very time he was laboring for their interests. An officer who spends his official and private hours in working for the benefit of his people, has the right to the support of that people.

2d. Because the policy of Governor HOLDEN is in strict consonance with the policy of the President of the United States, in its reference to the admission of North Carolina to equal rights in the Union. His policy has been the rule of the State during her provisional existence, and must continue to be so until she is disenthralled entirely. This can be said of no other man before the people now or likely to be. It must be remembered that we are still in the "chrysalis" state, and the Government of the United States must have evidences of a desire on our part to be at peace. It is therefore right that one in whom the administration reposes unlimited confidence—who possesses, in addition, every requisite qualification, should be selected by the people.

The Wilmington Herald, of the 18th, says:

It seems to be admitted on all hands that it is the duty of the people of North Carolina to elect W. W. Holden the first governor under the revised constitution. The significance of such an election would, of course, be enhanced by a unanimous election; but were opposition to present itself it would be blown away like chaff before the wind, so powerful is the hold the provisional governor has on the people, especially throughout the central and western portion of the State.

And this powerful and almost unanimous demonstration of popular sentiment toward the agent of the general government in the work of restoration, is but a tribute to the loyalty of the people to that general government. Mr. Holden, as provisional governor, is but the representative in this State of the President of the United States. His acts have been virtually the acts of the President. The policy that has been pursued in reviving a State government has been the President's policy. Whatever has been accomplished has been so accomplished under the advice and by the sanction of the President.

We believe that, were Andrew Johnson to come before the people of North Carolina to day for re-election, he would receive the unanimous vote of the State. But he cannot so come before the people, nor can they so testify their appreciation of him. But his agent—the man through whom he has acted—will come before the people in a short time for their suffrages. It will then be determined whether we are right in our conjectures of the immense popularity of the President. For in the gubernatorial election the only issue involved will be the endorsement of the President's policy. Every vote that shall be cast for Mr. Holden will be a vote of approval of the President's policy, and will be so considered in Washington. Every vote against Mr. Holden will be a vote of disapproval of the President's policy and will receive that interpretation. These are features of the election that it will be well for the people to study and keep in mind.

We have already announced that Lewis Hanes, Esq., had declared himself a candidate for Congress in the 5th district. The Salisbury Banner is pretty severe on that gentleman. That paper says:

Lewis Hanes, Esq., of Davidson has announced himself a candidate to represent the people of the fifth district in the United States Congress. Mr. Hanes is the author of the celebrated letters, published in the Standard in the summer of 1863, under the signature of "Davidson." He is a gentleman of talent and of some legislative capacity, but he announces his purpose to vote for Jonathan Worth, Esq., for Governor, which is a bad mark. His resolution savors of a personal pique or prejudice, that we do not admire. We do not like to see a man forsake his old friends and counselors at the eleventh hour. It is Robinson Crusoe's man Friday upbraiding him for sparing his life.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

In the year 1846, the writer embarked in the Drug business in the city of Philadelphia, and while thus engaged made several experiments in regard to the most expeditious modes of preparing Fluid Extracts. My efforts were successful—the articles being approved and used by the medical faculty—I was desirous of placing them before the public, but hesitated for some time before I could resort to newspaper advertising, knowing the prejudices that existed in the minds of many against advertised Medicines or Nostrums, but the advice of friends and those who had used them in practice was overcome.

My assertions, commencing in a small way, the sale of my articles has extended to all parts of the United States, and widely throughout foreign countries, this in the face of much opposition.—Recourse has been resorted to by unprincipled dealers, but merit and success have been known—such as buying large bottles at less price, censuring all other medicines, and even copying my advertisements. I am happy to state that out of the many who have tried to do this, none have been successful.

MY OBJECT

is to make facts known to the public and to benefit dealers, believing, after so many years' experience, the Druggists will discountenance such impositions, and that the reputation of my articles may not be injured by the use of inferior or spurious ones. Knowing that many may read this article who are unacquainted with me, I append a few remarks from those in the city, and whose names are known in all parts of the world:

"I am personally acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold, and it gives me pleasure in stating I have been most favorably impressed with his energy and integrity, and wish him success." WM. WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.]

"On a visit to the city of New York, a few days since, we were induced to call on our old friend and townsman, H. T. Helmbold, Druggist, 594 Broadway, N. Y. His store is a model—a perfect gem—the handsomest one we have ever had the pleasure of viewing. It is extensive, being 24 feet front, five stories in height and over 200 feet deep. It indeed affords us pleasure to know that he has been so successful. It is positive evidence of the merits of his articles—as from business experience we have not known of many articles without merit—advertising and giving the name before the people."

"It is not like to advertise worthless wares, or articles likely to deceive our readers; and when we find one like Mr. Helmbold, whom we have known, gradually extend his advertising from a little he becomes the largest advertiser in the country, we are satisfied that the statements of the articles must be correct."

Constantly inserts the above, and would not be a stranger to many; and concludes a few of his articles, and the diseases for which used by many thousands with com-

NEW SKIRT FOR 1865.

The Great Invention of the Age in

Hoop Skirts.

J. W. DE CAMP'S NEW PATENT DUPLEX ELLIPTIC, (OR DOUBLE) SPRING SKIRT.

THIS NEW FASHION CONSISTS OF DUPLEX (OR two) Elliptic Fare Bolted Steel Springs, independently braided tightly and firmly together at edges, making the toughest, most flexible and durable spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the single springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any single spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm-Chairs, for Promenade and Home Dress. The Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small space as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress.

A Lady having enjoyed the Pleasure, Comfort and Great Convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all other.

The Hoops are covered with triply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the Single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also Double Steel, and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c., &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant Corded Tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.

Interview between President Johnson and A. H. Stephens.

WASHINGTON, Oct 20.—Alexander H. Stephens, late Vice President of the late Confederacy and who is here by virtue of his parole, had a brief, but very gratifying interview with President Johnson to-day. He was accompanied by Judge Lochrane, of Georgia.

It is currently reported and believed here that the President this afternoon granted John Mitchell, the Irish patriot, but American secessionist, an unconditional pardon.

Much satisfaction is expressed here because of the repudiation of the rebel home debt by the North Carolina State Convention.

From Mobile.

NEW YORK Oct. 20.—The bark Anderson has arrived here from Mobile, with one passenger and three of the crew of the steamer Atlanta, which was wrecked on the 15th inst., on her passage from New Orleans to New York. It is supposed the remainder of the crew and passengers have perished.

New York Markets.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Cotton dull at 59c. Flour dull and declined 5c. Wheat declined 3 to 5c. Corn unchanged.

Pork is heavy, Lard quiet; Whiskey firm at 32 cents.

Treasure Coming.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 18.—The steamer Golden City, with a thousand passengers and one million two hundred and forty four thousand dollars in treasure for New York, and four hundred and fourteen thousand from Central America and Panama, sailed to-day.

THE COMING TRIALS—FENIANS BLOWING ON EACH OTHER.—The Dublin Freeman's Journal says that the Government is delaying the trial of the men already arrested in order to let the public excitement subside and for another purpose—this:

"It is said that the numbers of the 'Brotherhood' who have volunteered to 'split' are so large that the Crown officers are perplexed, and know not how to make a selection between the various applicants. The moral effect of this baseness on the part of the informers will be useful hereafter, and may tend to induce others who may be tempted to join in secret confederations to distrust the knaves whose chief objects in all similar attempts are to accumulate subscriptions, and, after using them, to sell the blood of the subscribers."

TAMPERING WITH THE TEETH is madness. Avoid the corrosive dentifrices, submit to no scraping, use nothing but SOZODONT. Orient herbs are its ingredients. It preserves the enamel. It removes all impurities. It strengthens the gums. It deodorizes a tainted breath. It is harmless as water, and more valuable than its weight in gold.

PROCLAMATION,

BY WILLIAM W. HOLDEN,

PROVISIONAL GOVERNOR,

TO THE

PEOPLE OF NORTH CAROLINA.

WHEREAS, A CONVENTION OF THE PEOPLE of North Carolina has been chosen in pursuance of the proclamation of ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States of date May 29th, 1865 under the fourth section of the fourth article of the Constitution of the United States which guarantees to every State in the Union a republican form of government, for the purpose of enabling the loyal people of said State to organize a State government, whereby justice may be established, domestic tranquility restored, and loyal citizens protected in all their rights of life, liberty and property; and for the purpose also of restoring said State to its Constitutional relations to the Federal Government, by presenting such a republican form of government as will entitle the State to the guarantees of the United States therefor, and its people to protection by the United States against invasion, insurrection and domestic violence: And said Convention having assembled in the City of Raleigh and adopted Ordinaces hereinafter set forth, I, WILLIAM W. HOLDEN, Provisional Governor of said State, do hereby proclaim and declare that an election will be held in the various counties of said State on Thursday, the ninth day of November, 1865, as follows:

1st. For the ratification or rejection of "An Ordinance declaring null and void the ordinance of May the 20th, 1861."

2d For the ratification or rejection of "An Ordinance prohibiting slavery in the State of North Carolina."

4th For seven members of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

5th. For Clerks and Sheriffs of the respective counties.

"The elections shall be conducted in accordance with "An Ordinance providing for the election of the members of the General Assembly, to be convened on the fourth Monday of November, eighteen hundred and sixty five, and for electing Representatives in Congress and Governor of the State," ratified by the Convention the tenth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and hereinafter set forth; said Ordinance having been passed in pursuance of the proclamation of the President of the United States, of date May 29th, 1865, authorizing said Convention to "prescribe the qualifications of electors, and the eligibility of persons to hold office under the constitution and laws of the State." And also, in conformity with the rules and regulations prescribed by the laws of this State concerning said elections, in force previous to the 20th day of May, 1861.

The people of the State are respectfully urged to maintain order among themselves at the election, and to discountenance appeals, the tendency of which may be to produce ill-feeling and alienation towards the Federal Government. The policy of the government has been liberal and generous towards North Carolina, and no pains should be spared to secure a continuance of this policy.

And the officers in the various counties, appointed by the Provisional Governor, are enjoined to exert themselves to preserve the peace among the people on the day of the election; to act with justice and firmness in all matters that may claim their attention; to see that those entitled to vote are protected in their right of suffrage, and that every manifestation, if such manifestation there should be, of hostility to the Federal Government, is promptly rebuked and repressed.

Done at our city of Raleigh, the 18th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and in the year of the Independence of the United States the ninetieth.

W. W. HOLDEN, Provisional Governor.

Mr. Editor:—THE FOLLOWING IS

STRANGE BUT TRUE.

'Twas late last night that I was sitting, in my chamber, lonely, knitting,
Knitting on the same old stocking, I'd commenced before the war;
Knitting carefully, I was heeling—when methought I heard one stealing,
Stealing softly up the stairway, leading to my chamber door.

This I thought, and listened more.

Soon I heard a gentle knocking—hastily I dropped my stocking;
Dropped my knitting—the old stocking I commenced before the war.
Again, and louder, came the rapping—as tho' they thought that I was napping,
Me a napping? Knitting, napping? Me who never—"Ope the door."

This the voice said—"Ope the door!!"

"'Tis Sally's voice"—says I—"'tis Sally, and I know she's got some news,
And I'm powerful glad she's come too, for I most did have the blues.
"Sally," says I, "Sally, howdye?" "What's the news? Do have a chair?"
"Glorious news, my Peggy darling—glorious news from Market Square,"

"From Shepherd's Store in Market Square."

At Shepherd's Store, they've got new shoes—such bran new, laced up, tasseled beauties.
Morocco, kid, and patent leather—Congress gaiters, toe-tipped bootees.
Balmoral, Prunello and Creole. Mens and womens, boys and girls;
Such a sight it is to behold—they're the cheapest in the world.

The very cheapest in the world.

And Peggy, dear, they've got new hats—military and civilian.
All the style of Frenchy fashion—a la Emp'reur Maximilian.
And I told my husband, Johnny, "throw aside that rusty beaver"
"Go to Shepherd's—market square—get a hat you gay deceiver,

Get a hat, and burn your beaver."

Well, Peg—John went to market square—he's just got back—rigged up so gay,
A bran new suit from top to toe—and cheap as dirt, for ready pay:
And I advise you, Peggy darling—to give what cash you've got to spare,
To your dear Bobby in the morning—and send him straight to Market Square"

To Shepherd's Store, in Market Square.

"I'll do it, Sally dear"—says I—I'll send Bob early in the morn,
I'll send him straight to Shepherd's Store—I will as sure as I am born,
Good bye, dear Sally! Must you go? Yes—good-bye, Peggy—now take care,
Be sure that Bob finds the right place—'tis SHEPHERD'S STORE, at Market Square.

BURNING OF THE MUSEUM!
LETTER FROM MR. P. T. BARNUM!

NEW YORK, July 14, 186

Messrs. Herring & Co.:

GENTLEMEN—Though the destruction of the Amer Museum has proved a serious loss to myself and the pu lic, I am happy to verify the old adage that "It's a ill wind that blows nobody good," and, consequently, c gratulate you that your well known safes have b demonstrated their superior fire-proof qualities in ordeal of unusual severity.

The safe you made for me some time ago was in office of the Museum, on the second floor, back pa the building, and in the hottest of the fire.

After twenty four hours of trial it was found a the debris, and on opening it this day has yielded up contents in very good order—books, papers, polic insurance, bank bills, all in condition for immediate and a noble commentary on the trustworthiness Herring's Fire-Proof Safes.

Truly yours,
P. T. BARNUM.
